... Jan. 30.—(By The A P)— ...rench foreign office declared there was no truth in the re... (printed this morning by a ...is newspaper) that twenty Ger...ns had been killed in a clash with ...rench troops at Boppard, near Bin...gen. There has been no such trou...ble at Bopard as reported, it was stated.

The foreign office in complaining that a great deal of incorrect news was still in circulation regarding events in the Ruhr and on the left bank of the Rhine said the reports of strikes were greatly exaggerated and that the situation had improved. Coblenz, Bonn and Treves were the only points to the west of the Rhine where the railroad employes were still out, it was stated.

Duesseldorf, Jan. 30.—(By The A. P.)—An attempt to wreck the train on which General Weygand and minister of public works Le Trocquer, were travelling to Duesseldorf from Paris is reported to have occurred at Duren last evening. Other incidents of sabotage, such as the wrecking of signal boxes on the Ruhr railroads have also come to the attention of the occupation officials.

The train on which the general and minister were passengers, was halted in time to avert striking an obstruction placed across the track.

German trainmen at Dueren assert that the incident was unintentional.

General Weygand and M. Le Trocquer had a long conference last evening with General De Goutte, M. Coste and other occupation officials and later the minister left for Brussels to ask the Belgian government's approval of the decisions reached

The greatest secrecy was maintained as to the results of the conference but the intentions point to the establishment of a customs ring around the occupied Ruhr valley and the complete stoppage of coal shipments into the interior of Germany It is believed that these measures will be put into effect February 3

The arrests and expulsion of German officials have not yet been completed More expulsions are expected for Essen while the cities of Dortmund, Bochum, Gelsenkirchen, Duisburg, Hamborn and Ruhrort will be penalized in the same manner in proportion to their size.

Postal service with the outside world is at a standstill.

The gas and electrical workers by a vote of 2 to 1, have decided not to strike.

The miners continue to turn out about two-thirds of the normal production of coal, but the stoppage of the railroad traffic and the schedule of empty cars are causing congestion at the pit heads and it is thought that the mines must close in a few days unless some remedy is found.

Building Boom in Newark Will Continue This Year

With many Newark people preparing to buy homes, officials of the local building and loan associations have issued a list of suggestions on how to finance a home. According to them, four fundamental ideas should be kept in mind by those preparing to buy.

1. Know exactly what you buy and how to buy it;
2. Know exactly how you are going to pay for your home,
3. Beware of where you obtain loans on your home;
4. Be sure to ask yourself how much you can afford.

The instructions urge the prospective buyer to be sure the title is clear. "Make sure there are no assessments. You must be prepared to pay taxes on property and special assessments for water, sewer, electric light, gas, paving and sidewalks."

While the advice may seem obvious, many purchasers of limited means have suffered through lack of knowledge of these fundamentals. The second fundamental, that of paying for the home, often is misunderstood and the axiom, "The more risks the borrower assumes, the fewer the lender will have to charge him for," always should be borne in mind. Most homes are bought on credit, there being more than 4,000,000 mortgaged homes in the United States, 90 per cent of them financed through building and loan institutions.

You must ask yourself how much you can afford. It is suggested by financial men that a man may own a home worth one and one half to two and a half times his annual income, but the payments he makes during the first few years after purchasing require the most attention To buy a home a man can devote his customary savings, in addition to what he ordinarily would pay for rent, to paying off the principal of loans on his home.

Newark building and loan men are urging the advisability of making a connection with some institution catering to home financing before taking any definite steps toward buying a home. "If a man has a savings account with some building and loan institution and the officials of this institution know that he is a conscientious worker, a systematic saver and has an ambition to get ahead, he stands a better chance of getting a desirable loan," said E. M. Baugher, of the ... building association speaking for the building and loan men.

A continuation of the building boom of last year is being anticipated by local building and loan officials. There has been more residential construction during the winter months than ever before in the history of Newark. This is due to the fact that money has become easier and because of a very mild winter.

Building and loan associations in Newark will have more money to loan for home construction work next spring than last year. Much of the money returned by the government in tis redemption of War Savings stamps and Victory notes has gone into building and loan institutions and this money will be available to prospective home owners

WOMAN BADLY BURNED; POLICE SQUAD IS FOILED

Corn Liquor Thrown Into Stove Envelops Woman in Flames But Evidence is Destroyed.

Mrs. Nettie Brower was severely burned about the face and hands last night about 7 o'clock at the home of Quincey Sutley, rear of 72 Wilson street, when she threw a quantity of corn liquor into a coal fire stove in the kitchen of the house in order to get rid of evidence the police were searching for. The liquor exploded and covered Mrs. Brower for an instant with flames.

Officers McMasters, Sunkle and Williams, lead by Purity Squad Officer Eddie Hurbaugh, attempted to raid the Sutley house at 7 o'clock last night. Failing to gain entrance at the door a sledge was brought into use and the kitchen door battered down. The officers got in in time to find Mrs. Brower on the kitchen floor, severely burned.

A thorough search of the house failed to disclose any more corn liquor or intoxicants of any kind and no arrests were made.

Officer Hurbaugh this morning said that the liquor was contained in an aluminum kettle of the ordinary kitchen size. Until he witnessed the affair last night he said he didn't realize what highly inflammable stuff corn liquor was.

Madam Matenzauer was awarded an interlocutory decree of divorce from Glotzbach yesterday in superior court here on a cross-complaint she filed some time ago. After Glotzbach had sought martial freedom on the ground that she practiced cruelty on him. Among Glotzbach's specifications of cruelty were allegations that his wife desired him to have breakfast in bed and to hook up her gowns. In published statements he declared he was a "he man" and would rather be chauffeur in California than remain with her and act as a "lady's maid."

Yesterday's trial of the case was brief.

Only one witness Glotzbach's attorney, was called by Mme. Matenzauer's attorney, but a quanity documentary evidence was offered including depositions from both parties in which each reiterated published statements; checks drawn by Mme. Matenzauer to Glotzbach and bearing the purported endorsement of the woman with whom the cross-complaint alleged Glotzbach had maintained relations; a letter declared to be from that woman to Glotzbach, accusing Glotzbach of unfaithfulness to the writer, and a telegram which was asserted to be from Glotzbach to Mme Matenzauer's New York attorneys saying the sender would give to the newspapers a story of "their intimate relations" unless satisfactory arrangements were made.

NURSES RETAIN RIGHT TO GIVE ANAESTHETICS

Women On Committee Succeed in Defeating Restriction

Action Is Indefinitely Postponed Through Vote of Women

Columbus, Jan. 30.—The two women members of the state senate Mrs. Nettie B. Loughead of Cincinnati and Mrs. Maud C. Waitt of Cleveland took action which was expected to reserve for nurses the right to administer anaesthetics in Ohio.

After a hearing before the public health committee of the senate on the bill of Senator Kumler, Republican of Preble county, which proposed that the right of giving anaesthetics be restricted to doctors and taken away from registered nurses, Mrs. Waitt moved that consideration of the bill be indefinitely postponed. Mrs. Loughead seconded the motion which was adopted by a vote of three to two.

Miss Mary Jamieson, chairman of the legislative committee of the State Association of Graduate Nurses, previously had declared that advocation of the measure was a "distinct financial affair with the doctors" Nurses were fully capable of giving anaesthetics she said. She declared doctors who favored the legislation 'wanted the fees themselves."

Support for the measure came from Dr. J. H. Upham, representing the Ohio State Medical association, who declared permitting nurses to administer anaesthesia was an emergency war measure. Dr. Harry S. Davidson of Akron, a member of the house of representatives, said that the permission of nurses to act as anaesthetists would tend to break down the barriers between the nursing profession and practicing physicians.

Among those who appeared for the nurses were Dr. A. B. Denison of Lakeside hospital Cleveland and Dr. W. E. Ranz of Youngstown. Both said nurses were fully capable of doing the work and that the privelege should be retained for them.

LEGION FIGHTS OVER AUTO RACE

Legion Posts Oppose Passage of Bill Prohibiting Commercialized Sport on Memorial Day

Indianapolis, Jan. 30—Four outstanding developments in the fight over the bill pending before the Indiana legislature to prohibit commercialized sports on Memorial Day, which is aimed at the annual 500-mile automobile race here, were noted Monday.

The St. Mihiel Loer Post American Legion, joined the ranks of the forces opposed to the bill when officers and members of the executive committee and advisory committee adopted a resolution urging that the bill be defeated. The Skidmore-Dean Post, also of this city, was the first to take similar action.

Humphrey C. Harrington, judge advocate of the department of Indiana of the American Legion, which is sponsoring the measure, was dismissed by Perry Faulkner, state commander, because Mr. Faulkner said Mr. Harrington had "misquoted" him on the controversy over the bill.

A meeting of the Skidmore-Dean Post, whose charter was revoked Saturday by Mr. Faulkner following its action in opposing the bill, planned for today at the Soldiers and Sailors' Monument, was postponed Monday afternoon that the post would not sponsor the meeting which was planned as a protest against the bill.

The charter of the St. Mihiel-Loer Post was revoked by Commander Faulkner immediately after its meeting. The state commander had announced that any post acting as did the Skidmore Dean Post would be "summarily dealt with."

Theodore Myers secretary and manager of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, has announced that passage of the bill means the removal of the speedway race from Indianapolis. Robert H. Tyndall of Indianapolis, national treasurer of the Legion, characterized the bill as the "work of professional reformers."

NORWAY WINS COURT AWARD

U. S. Loses Contention When Case Is Taken to the Hague

American on Court Declares Award Unfair and Withdraws

(By FREDERIC J. HASKIN)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—The delicate diplomatic question of the propriety of declining to abide by an arbitration award of The Hague is pending before the department of state. The question arises from the decision of The Hague tribunal last autumn finding the United States indebted to Norway in the sum of $12,000,000 for certain war shipping claims.

The controversy has been a heated one and it has been alleged that national prejudices may have entered into the adjudication of the case. Chandler Anderson, the American jurist on the court of arbitration in this cast, felt so strongly on the subject that he withdrew from the proceedings and did not sign the award. This left it signed only by the Norweigian and the neutral Swiss judges. Such a tribunal customarily is made up of judges representing both nations, parties to the dispute, and a third judge or a group of judges from a neutral country.

The Norweigian shipping cases arose out of the war. When the United States declared war on Germany, the cry went up for ships. "Ships will win the war" was one of the various popular slogans.

Acting under its sovereign rights, the United States government proceeded to lay its hands on all the shipping available. In time of war it is universally recognized that all the niceties of peace cannot be observed. Quick, decisive actions are taken where they seem necessary and any controversy which may result is adjusted later.

With the United States government in this mood, certain fine steamers were discovered to be under construction, nearing completion, in American shipyards. They were being built on contract for Norweigian subjects. Under its general war powers, the United States government swooped down and requisitioned these ships. Upon their completion they were not permitted to be delivered to their Norweigian owners, but were seized by the United States, despite the fact that Norway was a neutral.

Immediately the Norweigian owners filed claims. Some of these claims were adjusted by the shipping board, through its legal department, but a batch of them involved so much controversy that they could not be settled in an administrative manner. The prime question was whether the owners should be paid for the value of completed ships and, in addition, a sort of indemnity for the loss of the wartime use of these vessels at a period when ocean freight rates were exceedingly high and remunerative to ship owners, or should be paid for the ships on the basis of the stats of completion in which they stood when they were taken over.

The shipping board could not agree with the Norwegian owners so a mixed tribunal was chosen and the case went to the high court of arbitration at The Hague. Emminent legal counsel journeyed to the court last summer and tried the case. The award was made in the autumn and was favorable to the Norweigians granting them $12,000,000—practically all they asked. The American contention was that about $6,000,000 ought to square the account.

The other day President Harding expressed the opinion that the award should be paid without question. He said that when the United States enters into an arbitration, it should be what he termed "a good sport" and pay the award whatever it might be.

This government, he emphasized, always has been a strong champion of arbitration to settle international disputes in a peaceable manner, and therefore cannot afford to be placed in the position of backing down.

No one takes any issue with the President on the principle of this declaration, but international law experts ond some representatives of the state department recognize that there are conspicuous exceptions to this general rule and that it is important to observe and apply the exceptions in the proper place.

They declare that it is a blow to the principle of arbitration to accept without protest an unfair or fraudulent award. Lax agreement to awards in this manner would bring the whole arbitral principle into disrepute and weaken its salutary effects.

There are two outstanding precedents in American diplomatic records of refusal to accept the award of an arbitration.

The first precedent arose from the celebrated La Abra Silver Mining company case about 1888. This company had made claims against the government of Mexico, seeking to recover large sums for damages. The case went to international arbitration and an award was found in favor of the company, an American concern. Upon the examination of charges which had been made, the American government looked into the matter and discovered that fraud had been used in obtaining the verdict. Perjury and false witness were alleged. The American government flatly refused to carry out the terms of the award, even though in favor of an American company. Before this action was taken. Mexico already had paid the award over to the American government. This government refused to pass the sum along to the claimant, and the award was disregarded.

The second important precedent arose some 20 years ago in the Venezuela cases. It will be remembered that a series of revolutionary disturbances in Venezuela resulted in so much loss of life and property of foreigners that several governments sent warships to demonstrate off the Venezuelan coast. That government was brought to terms and arbitration courts were set up there to try the claims of the various foreigners. At one time eight separate courts were sitting in Venezuela.

The court examining the American claims found heavy awards in favor of American claimants. Here, again, it was discovered after the awards had been made, that there had been fraud in the proceedings of the arbitration court. Again, although the findings favored Americans, the American government declined to carry out the terms and refused to permit its citizens to take the money awarded them.

Diplomacy has many critics and it frequently is said that all manner of chicanery is resorted to obtain advantages. These cases show bright spots in American diplomacy where the government refused to take advantage of favorable decisions when it nnew those decisions to be unfair or at least procured by unfair means.

It is a recognized principle of diplomacy that a controversy may be resubmitted and tried over again where there is any reason to believe that the verdict and award are fraudulently unfair to any party. The state department has spent some study on the Norweigian case to determine whether or not it is one of those cases open to such treatment.

No charges of fraud have been made regarding the award in the Norweigian case. There has been the suggestion of a charge of prejudice aainst the United States. Thus, if it is found that a juryman has prejudices he is unsuited to hear a trial and find a verdict. It is not a reflection on his personal integrity but does inject an invalidating element into his judgment. The same might be true in an arbitration.

It is more than likely that the United States government will not avail itself of the precedents but will pay the Norweigian award, especially in view of the fact that we were victors in the war and can afford to be generous and because America is more prosperous than Europe. Prompt payment of the award would make for international good feling, in the opinion of many officials.

Just because all things come to those who wait, don't start out to be a waiter.

A Bible Thought for Today

PRESERVED FROM EVIL:—The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil he shall preserve thy soul.—Psalm 121:7.

QUALIFICATIONS OF TEACHERS.

The statement is made that less than half of the public school teachers of the country have had a high school education. If correct, it is not surprising that many young people are coming along with insufficient preparation for life.

Such a statement might seem rather incredible, were it not obvious that many country schools have insufficient funds, and can't afford well trained teachers. At least the citizens of such localities feel that they can't. They probably take a short sighted view, and in the long run their locality would prosper better if they would loosen up a little and hire some modern trained teachers.

Even if a person has had both high school and college education, such a person is not necessarily a competent teacher. There is a knack in the work that people have by instinct, but the majority have to get it by instruction from people who have made a specialty of the art. There are certain ways of teaching that appeal successfully to the child mind and certain ways that do not. Many people understand a subject perfectly well themselves, yet they may not have any conception of how to explain that subject to young pupils, and make a class understand it and get interested in it.

To get good school work, most teachers need to take a course of normal training, in which they will learn how ideas can be communicated to young minds most effectively, and as to how young people can be incited to take an interest in their studies.

If pupils really get interested and want to learn, they will cover two or three times as much ground. The teacher who gives out a certain lesson in a book, and then just hears the pupils recite it, is behind the game in these times. She needs to learn the principles by which modern education makes these lessons interesting, and puts the ambitious working spirit into the modern classroom.

THE BOYS COMING HOME.

A great chapter of American history will end in a short time, when the last detachment of soldiers stationed on the Rhine will come home. The great army which the United States sent to France was the most astonishing military movement in history, considering the size of the force and the distance it went from home and the results it attained in a short time.

The boys who were sent across have been a great credit to our country. They have behaved themselves with self restraint and courtesy in time of peace, and with unparalleled devotion and heroism in time of war. They have won the plaudits of both friend and foe. They were a stabilizing force in the conquered territory that they occupied, and the Germans who were under their rule liked them so much that they wanted them to stay.

Our country can well be pround of any army organization that can perform its duty in this splendid manner.

Crime wave breaking out again. The crime wavers should reflect that many bank men and others are carrying guns and are getting tired of practising on board targets.

The coal shortage is an alarming factor, but to get the fuel problem settled, it will be necessary to arrest something besides people's attention.

Some of the girls who spent their money getting their hair bobbed last year, are now spending some more on hair tonic to make it grow faster.

Prominent among those who are "listening in" are the politicians who are anxiously inquiring how much the home folks will stand for.

If a politicians changes his mind frequently, he is called a weathercock, and if he doesn't, he is called a bourbon.

Life is safe in Russia provided you keep your mouth shut and do just what the soviets tell you to.

A LITTLE TALK ON THRIFT

(By S. W. STRAUSS)
President American Society for Thrift.

Saving money is a matter of determination, not of income.

Many save money out of the most meager incomes and in the face of great odds; many others, with handsome incomes, waste their golden years without putting aside a single penny from one year's end to the next.

It is one of the truths of life that those who cannot learn to save on a small income will not do so on a large one.

In an obscure corner of a prominent newspaper reference was made recently to a New York elevated guard who, out of his modest earnings, had during 25 years saved enough to give him a fixed income of $1,000 a year from his investments.

This is but one instance in thousands upon thousands of cases where substantial sums have ben built up from slow, patient savings.

In no phase of life is the spirit of procrastination more harmful than in the matter of thrift.

Waiting for more propitious times before beginning to save, has brought about the ultimate failure of many a well meaning person.

It is with honest intent that many say "when I beain making more money I will begin saving." But this is not the argument of those who really succeed in thrift. Success comes through making the fight, no matter what the obstacles may be.

Do not pigeon hole your good intentions.

The saving of a penny today is of more value than the possibility of saving a dollar at some future time.

Most things in life are gained through determination. And this applies with special emphasis to the matter of saving money.

CUTS COAL CONSUMPTION.

A turbine-driven locomotive embodying such radical departures from accepted designs as to form a decided innivation in the field of locomotive engineering, has been developed in Sweden. When it is remembered that an ordinary locomotive burns only about 6 per cent of the heat of its coal into useful work, whereas in modern power plants from 10 to 20 per cent of the heat of the coal is utilized, it is evident that the locomotive offers great scope for improvement.

This new locomotive is 72 feet long over all, and weighs, in running order, 126 tons. The motive power is a steam turbine capable of developing 1,800 horsepower. This turbine drives the three pairs of coupled wheels by means of double reduction bearing. The turbine is carried on the front end of what one is tempted to call the tender. In reality it is the engine part of the complete locomotive. It embodies the whole of the driving mechanism and auxiliary apparatus, as well as the condensing plant. The front part of the locomotive carries the boiler, with superheater, the turbine-driven induced draft for the air heater, and the coal bunker. The latter is in the form of a saddle tank, and has a capacity of seven tons of coal. The tractive effort of the locomotive is 12 tons, and the maximum speed 60 miles an hour.

An inspector recently traveled with this locomotive, riding on the footplate for one journey and in the dynamometer car when returning. The train consisted of a number of heavy sleeping cars, aggregating about 475 tons. Special permission had been obtained from the railway administration to exceed the normal high speed; the engine was opened out, and a speed of 59.5 miles was reached over one portion of the track.

"At all speeds," he says, "the engine ran with great steadiness, and except for the indications of the speed recorder one would hardly have realized that 60 miles per hour was being touched. The man gearing worked practically inaudibly, or at any rate, it made much less noise than the small bevel-gear drive to the condenser fans."—Geo. F. Paul in February Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Insufficient Data.

Although the well-known vampire bat
Goes 'round a lot at night,
I never yet have seen one at
A church fair or prize fight.

—Springfield (Mass.) Union.

Well, that's not strange, for there is naught
To vamp, at a prize fight;
And if a colyumist were caught
At church fairs, 'twere a sight!

Dear, Dear!

"What fruit do rooftrees bear?" I asked
Of pessimist McWhutts;
And his contempt was quite unmasked
As he said, "Mostly nuts."

—Newark Advocate.

Then where do rooftrees grow, great Ned,
I asked him quick as wink,
And with a weary smile, he said,
Roof-gardens, sir, I think.

Did You Know

That a bell struck in a vacuum produces no sound? If hydrogen be introduced the sound is barely perceptible. Hydrogen, the most rarefied of all gases, is the poorest conductor of sound, and iridium, the densest, is the best. As a general rule, the greater the density of a substance and the more elasticity it possesses the better it will conduct sound. While sound travels at the rate of 1125 feet a second in ordinary atmosphere, it will travel 4708 feet a second in water.

Q. Who invented soda water? A. P.

A. The department of agriculture says that while the watermelon is botanically regarded as a fruit, the horticultural and legal aspects of the case classify it as a vegetable so that it would be known as a vegetable. It is grown as a vegetable and marketed as a vegetable, and the court decisions have decided that it shall be considered a vegetable. They wish to call attention to the fact that practically every text-book on vegetable raising includes the watermelon.

Q. How long does it take a silkworm to spin a cocoon? A. G. L.

A. About three days are occupied by the worm in spinning its cocoon. The fibre of silk ranges in length from 800 to 1000 yards, and under microscope can be seen to be double. It is derived equally from the two silk-producing organs of the silkworm.

It makes some people tired today thinking about the work they have to do tomorrow.

CAPITOL JOKES

By HAROLD KNUTSON

U. S. Representative From Minnesota, Sixth District

We used to have some bad roads in Minnesota, but perhaps the worst gave rise to this story:

A man was driving along through the mud, making heavy going of it, when he noticed a hat in the road before him. He got out and, sinking to his knees in the ooze, picked up the hat. Under it was a man's head, and in spite of his predicament the man seemed very much alive.

"Well," said the other chap, "you seem to be in a pretty bad fix."

"I'll say so," agreed the submerged individual, "but I'm sure better off than the horse under me."

"Nut food" cannot be imitated

GALLEYS, heavy laden, brought nuts from far across the blue Mediterranean to flavor the feasts of ancient Persia. Even the people of those days knew no substitute for exquisite "nut food."

People have always eaten nuts and have found them a hearty food—good to build strong bodies.

You will find this time-honored goodness of nuts in Kingnut. And it will please your appetite.

"Nut food" adds zest to the rest of the food. You can now have it every day—every meal—by using Kingnut, the spread for bread, made from cocoanuts, peanuts, and rich milk.

THEN ABOVE EVERYTHING ELSE DON'T LEND HIM YOUR MONEY

Miss Eleanor Kerr

"If you've a friend and want to keep him—

"Never loan him money.

"Never, though repeatedly urged, tell him candidly what you think of his character, his children or his private stock.

"Never take his advice as to your investments."

Thus Miss Eleanor Kerr, financial statistician for a Wall Street New York municipal bond house.

"If you are a widow," she says "with your husband's insurance in a lump sum, or if your great aunt left you a legacy, it's the easiest thing to lend ear to a friend who knows an investment paying up to 22 1-2 per cent.

"But don't listen. Hie you to a dependable bank and consult its financial adviser. What he'll probably suggest will be an investment paying closer to five per cent But you will not awake some morning to find principal and interest vanished into the air."

Home-staying women are not alone unwise in their investments, business women are just as indiscreet, Miss Kerr adds.

To the woman who depends on inherited money for support, Miss Kerr recommends bonds of the class legal for savings banks.

To the business woman she suggests the safe investment of a certain sum and speculation, if desired, with what's left.

"But no matter what the circumstances," she concludes, "a woman will always be safe in consulting her bank before investing."

Professor Dana Demorest who lectured before the Monday Talks at the Trinity Parish house yesterday, has had many interesting experiences. He was in charge of Edgewood arsenal, near Baltimore, with the rank of major, during the war. At the arsenal he had charge of the exclusive manufacture of poison gas.

At the close of the war he took the position of instructor in metallurgy at Ohio State University. He also has his own laboratory there with a corps of assistants and in the spring has a contract to open a new radium field in the west through which it is hoped to secure radium at a greatly reduced price.

His topic yesterday was "A Scientist's Attitude toward other Things in Science." It was guest day and many were entertained.

Mrs. Ralph Davis is entertaining with a bridge party at her home in Elmwood avenue Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Montgomery entertained a few friends informally at supper Sunday evening at their home in Granville street for the pleasure of Miss Blanche Zink of Lancaster.

MODESTE MOUSSORGSKY SHADOWY AND ROMANTIC

Today, 40 years after his death, the figure of Modeste Moussorgsky is a more shadowy and romantic figure than ever. A wretched government clerk under the old regime, slowly worn out with poverty and discouragement, his constitution wrecked with drugs and with evil living, he nevertheless was one of the geniuses of a period rich in genius. His "Songs and Dances of Death" are gloomy but magnificent; his "Boris Godounow" a masterpiece of the Russian opera.

Knitted suits and dresses are greatly in demand for southern wear. They are seen in white and pastel colors, as well as in tans and blues for sports wear.

FROM MOTHER'S COOK BOOK

There is nothing better and more appetizing than a good stew, especially on a cold day. Some people think of a stew as merely to use up left-over meat.

While such a stew may be excellent; a dish of freshly cooked meat is as important and dignified as a roast. The process of stewing is cooking meat in water at a temperature slightly below boiling.

By this method, tough meat may be made tender and the juice become rich and thick. To this vegetables and seasoning may be added.

Every country has some kind of a stew, the meat and vegetables differing.

Oriental countries use lamb and pork more than beef, while English stew is usually made with beef. An Irish stew has lamb in it and is seldom a brown stew.

Chicken is used a great deal, although not entirely, in France and Spain. The Mexicans stew beef, chile peppers, and beans together.

A curry is really a stew, very highly seasoned, and may be made of fish, veal, chicken, lamb or beef.

Fresh pork makes an appetizing stew, and in some countries beef, veal and pork are combined. Where fish is plentiful a fish stew is used as much as meat in other places.

One important point is to have a beef or lamb stew brown in color A white stew is less attractive and not as appetizing. Chicken may be left light in color, but almost all persons enjoy a fricasse more than just plain stewed chicken; a fricasse means that the chicken is fried before or after being stewed.

Sometimes it is advisible to cook the stew in a casserole, and serve it in the same dish. The dish is attractive and the heat is retained until the moment of eating.

If vegetables are plentiful in the stew, and dumplings are served with it, it becomes a one-dish meal, saving time as well as money. It is well to serve a salad with it—a light dessert, and, of course, no soup.

Many cooks do not have success with dumplings, yet they are easy to make as anything can be—and should always be light if one or two rules are followed.

Do not put in shortening; do not handle them, but have the dough soft enough to drop from a spoon.

Have the stew boiling when the dumplings go in; be sure the cover of the kettle fits closely and do not lift the cover for at least 10 minutes.

A stew made in a kettle is more attractively served on a platter surrounded by the dumplings. Small potatoes and onions may be left whole, the carrots cut in strips and other vegetables in uniform pieces. one or two tablespoons of chopped Tomato adds color and flavor, and parsley sprinkled over the top adds to the stew's beauty.

TWO VERSIONS OF WAGNER'S "TANNHAUSER"

There are two versions of Richard Wagner's "Tannhauser," the original and the newer or "dramatic" version. In one the overture is played complete, then following a pause, the work proper begins. In the more recent version, the overture breaks off before the return of the Pilgrim's chorus, passing directly into the Venusberg music of the first scene. In the "Paris" version, most frequently given, there is additional music which had to be written to meet the demands of the Grand Opera ballet. Today, in most performances, the overture is given, then the ballet music, then the opera moves on.

Foulard promises to be a popular material for spring. Most frequently it comes in dark colors, brown, black, or navy, relieved by white. The designs are usually all-over, block arrangements.

CHAPTER 42

DAN'S TRUNK

"I haven't the keys and don't suppose anyone knows where they are now—but we may be able to get in through a window," said Latham as he tried the door of the fishing shack and met sturdy resistance.

They went to a window at the side. That, too, resisted their efforts to raise it.

"In pretty good shape for a cabin that has been deserted for so long—don't suppose it has been used much since that last day I saw Dan here." Latham was still working at the window.

"Break the glass—we'll have to get in somehow," Kate commanded, "and if it's my property I have a right to wreck it. Even if it weren't mine I'd risk any kind of trespass prosecution to get the trunk."

Latham gave the glass a smart blow with his hand. It splintered He pushed out the pieces so the frame was clear and then climbed into the cabin. Kate stood impatiently at the door while he drew back the heavy bolts. Once inside she scanned the place and then rushed across the one large room which the building contained.

"This it is—I know it is, isn't it?" eagerly.

She was on her knees before a small trunk, working with the fastenings.

"It's locked," she said after a few seconds.

"Yes, I think the only way we can open it will be to break the lock."

"Break it" from Kate.

Latham set at the task. Kate stood near and watched him. It affected her strangely. Somehow the opening of this little, old trunk which had been the property of her husband seemed like desecration of some sacred place. It had been Dan's. He had locked it and gone away. Now strange hands were setting ruthlessly at it. Curious eyes would search the contents. She felt that she must stop it!

"Jimmy—" the words were on her lips.

"Yes, dear," Latham, on his knees at the trunk, did not look up.

"Wait—wait—let it—" Kate stopped speaking.

The lock snapped. The trunk was open. There, at her feet, lay things that had been his. His football clothes, with the soil of the game on them; his fishing things, as if he had just stepped out of them; a sweater, with the creases still in the sleeves at the elbows. They looked as if they must have covered his arms only yesterday!

Kate turned away.

"Please close it, Jimmy" Her tone was colorless

Latham softly returned the cover to its place and then sat motionless on the floor while Kate stared out of the window.

You know that one does not have one set of manners for a home and another for a hotel or public room.

You do not help yourself to towels and take a supply of writing paper with you when you leave a hotel.

You are as considerate of the furniture and the accessories of the room you inhabit for a day or so as you are of your own possessions.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

Among the Albanians, exogamy, or marriage outside the tribe, is the general rule, the Miridite chiefrains carrying off by force a woman from one of the neighboring tribes.

The wives of the principal inhabitants of Oroshi have, it is said, all been acquired in this way and, far from resenting the circumstance, are proud of it.

They make devoted wives, exceedingly jealous of the husband's honor.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

OHIO BANKS TO AID FARM BOYS

Will Finance Purchase of Pure Bred Live Stock and Take Note as Security.

Columbus, Jan. 30.—Ohio bankers are planning to inaugurate a loan of more than a quarter million dollars during the next few months for the financing of club work among the juvenile farm residents of the state, according to authorities at the agricultural extension department of the Ohio State university.

The loan will be floated through banks who are cooperating with the agricultural extension officials of the university and the various counties in the promotion of agricultural club work.

The money will be used by the embryo farmers to purchase aproximately 5,000 head of livestock which will be employed in the stock-raising clubs as basic material for the establishment of better breeds in the community.

W. H. Palmer, state leader of boys' and girls' clubs, with three assistants is touring the state to outline the programs of instruction for the ensuing year with the respective county agents who direct the instruction locally.

This year, it is estimated by agricultural extension authorities, that nearly 25,000 boys and girls will enroll in the work. Last year those who completed the year's instruction successfully numbered 14,592 of which 60 per cent were girls.

The bankers of the state are seeking in the project to include a business education. In doing this they will loan to every boy who is a farm club member enough money to purchase his initial livestock, taking his note as security.

When the stock has been scientifically raised under the direction of the county agent and has been disposed of, the youths are privileged to pay back the borrowed money through the proper business channels.

Domestic science clubs have also been organized in the farming sections and are also under the direction of the university department of agricultural extension. Their work includes food preservation, baking and kitchen management. Last year over 10,000 girls took this course of instruction.

Hulda Horst, assistant in the home economics department, Ohio State university, directs the food preservation and clothing instruction through a system of prepared lessons which are distributed through girls' club leaders in the respective counties where the work is being carried on.

Last year the Ohio Bankers' association sent the champion state stock judging team to the international live stock exposition at Chicago. A dairy judging team was also sent to St. Paul, Minn., and a food preservation group to Sioux City, Iowa. Teams from each type of work will compete again this year for national honors, it was announced.

The engine plowed into the road bed at the side of the track but did not turn over, and none of the trainmen were hurt. The Newark wreck crew had the track cleared and repaired for the trains by noon Sunday.

BOTTLE PLANT AIDS EMPLOYES

More Than $27,000 in Insurance Paid to Dependents, Records Show.

In the past five years the American Bottle Company through its group insurance plan with the Equitable Life Assurance Society has paid to beneficiaries of employes the sum of $27,647.

The company has the life of every employe insured at the company's expense. A letter addressed to each employe today says:

"The question is often asked, 'Why should I carry life insurance?' You should carry it not for your personal benefit, but for someone near and dear to you, and depending upon your daily labor for sustenance. It will care for them after you are unable to do so.

"The management of your company, realizing that many of you might neglect carrying life insurance, has arranged with the Equitable Life Assurance society of New York to carry insurance on each employee, starting with $500, after one year of service, and increasing $100 for each additional year of service thereafter until a maximum of $2,000 has been reached.

"For your information, we give you herewith a statement of the amounts paid to the beneficiaries of our deceased employees in the last five years:

Naylor, Charles W.	$ 860
Vossler, Harry	800

Skinner, Edward S.	2000

"Many of the beneficiaries have expressed their gratitude when presented with the check covering the amount of the insurance, and have advised us that this was the only insurance carried by the deceased.

"In many cases it was the means whereby they could lay away their loved one in the manner that they desired, and also leave them with quite a little sum for their maintenance until matters could be readjusted for the future.

"You are given this insurance free of all cost after completing one year of service, and your company has carried this insurance at a large yearly expense even through severe business depressions, and we hope that you will appreciate and take advantage of this service. Your company is interested in your welfare and in that of your loved ones."

NO REMEDY FOR FARM PROBLEM

Harvard Economic Expert Says Farmer Must Wait 'Til Customer's Buying Power Returns

Columbus, Jan. 30—(By A. P.)—There is no real remedy for the farmer's condition but to wait until "the consuming and purchasing power of his customers catches up" T. N. Carver, professor of economics at Harvard university declared in an address today at Farmers' Week at Ohio State university.

"Until about 1900, the rapid expansion of farm areas in this country resulted in a surplus of farm products," Mr. Carver continued, "resulted in a surplus of farm products, which had to be sold at low prices. From 1900 to 1920, the surplus was disappearing and the consuming or purchasing power of the world was catching up with the producing power of American farms. Since 1920, through the lack of purchasing power on the part of our best foreign customers, our farmers again are left with a surplus on their hands. There is no real remedy but to wait until the consuming and purchasing power again catch up, as they will before very long."

Discussing the proposed plans of extending credit to farmers, the speaker asserted credit is of no advantage to a farmer unless he either is making money or showing signs of being able to make money in the near future.

"It is of no advantage, unless he can use more capital and use it so profitable as to yield him enough to pay the loan and leave him a surplus besides," he said.

"The real difficulty is found in the farm community that cannot finance itself, but must attract loanable capital from distant sources. Special agencies are needed in such a community."

Masters Willard Hogan, Paul Guy, Robert Willet, Junior Johnson, Guy Brown, Charles Hogan, Jesse Willet, Frank Weaver, Andrew Smith and Edward Herndon.

Nell—"Just what business is Mrs. Dashaway's husband in?" Belle—"He is a dealer in artificial limbs." Nell—"No wonder he can afford to give her a free foot."

PARENTS LET KEATON'S NICKNAME STAND

Since being elevated to guardian by Jos. M. Schenck, Buster Keaton, the sad-faced funmaker, repeatedly the most sorrowful of comedians, has received many inquiries regarding the derivation of his name Buster.

Joe and Myra Keaton, father and mother of the youthful star, christened their offspring Joseph F. after his father, but when Keaton Jr. was six months old, those given names were dropped and Buster substituted.

Buster has just completed "The Frozen North," which is a Joseph M. Schenck production for release through Associated First National, and is coming to the Auditorium Thursday.

TOM MIX PLAY AT ALHAMBRA RIOT OF MIRTH

Could the gallant knights of the days of "Ivanhoe" but see the array of armor-begirt adventurers who disported themselves on the screen yesterday at the Alhambra they would grit their teeth and wax green with envy. Certainly, if spirits come back to earth, they would have placed their names, long renowned in song and fable, in the list of the tourney. Tom Mix, in his latest Fox production, "Romance Land," seemed to be the reincarnation of one of those dare devil knights of yore come to earth again to give the Twentieth Century an example of the chivalry that obtained in the golden days of romance.

Seldom has a photoplay met with such an enthusiastic reception. The producer has made good every promise sent out in advance of this screen creation. For sheer entertainment, for a well spent evening, go to the Alhambra to see "Romance Land."

It will be shown for 2 days more

"UP AND AT 'EM" AT GRAND THEATER

Doris May's latest R-C comedy, like her old fun-makers, was produced for laughing purposes only. Miss May, always at home in a flapper role, is reported to be in her most captivating mood in "Up and At 'Em", just released through the Film booking Offices of America. The picture will be shown at the Grand Theater on Thursday and Friday.

LATE WALLACE REID HEADS A PRODUCTION

The big battle is on at the Auditorium theater this week!

The late Wallace Reid, Paramount star, supported by Lila Lee, leading woman; Theodore Kosloff, Walter Long, Alan Hale, Kalla Pasha and other screen notables, is giving the public five delicious reels of fun, excitement, romance and revolution in "The Dictator," based on the famous play by the late Richard Harding Davis, in which Willie Collier scored a distinct success several years ago.

The picture remains over Wednesday night.

BOX OFICE SALE FOR "THE CIRCLE" MONDAY

In this issue and in the Auditorium ad today is found prices of "The Circle" coming to that theater Feb. 7th. Nothing but mail orders are being received and the box office sale starts next Monday.

BIG FIGHT IN WM. FARNUM'S LATEST

William Farnum, the Fox star, will be one of his strongest screen characterizations in "Without Compromise," which comes to the Auditorium theater for 3 days beginning Thursday. "Without Compromise" is one of those red-blooded, he-man stories of a frontier town, in which Farnum is cast as a sheriff who has his hands full with the primitive roughnecks, and also fights a bad gang of crooked politicians to a standstill. He captures the murderer of his foster-sister after a terrible hand to-hand battle in a cave, and then holds a lynching mob at bay single handed.

MANY NOVELTIES WILL BE SEEN IN "FOOLS FIRST"

The attraction at the Auditorium theater Thursday will be "Fools First," a First National attraction produced by Marshall Neilan with an all-star cast. The story was written by Hugh McNair Kahler and appeared in the Saturday Evening Post.

"Fools First," was filmed in many sections of the West. The first scenes were taken in San Francisco, where interiors of the St. Francis Hotel, the best in the Golden Gate city, were "shot" through the courtesy of the management. Other scenes were filmed within the gates of San Quentin prison, the state penitentiary of California, cafe scenes were taken in Vernon, and other "bits" at Sunset Inn and in the First National Bank of Hollywood.

MRS. CARTER TALKS ON MORALS OF PLAY

Everybody demands of Mrs. Carter her opinions concerning the morality of "The Circle," in which John Drew and Mrs. Leslie Carter will be seen at the Auditorium, Wednesday Feb. 7th. Why, nobody knows, but she always says and writes just what she thinks, which is that she does not consider Mr. Maugham's play immoral. The better word is unmoral. The characters are too absorbed in being honest with themselves to haggle over social conventions. Their environment is distinctly English. They themselves are English. And Mrs. Carter doesn't hesitate to say that such a story as the English author unfolds in "The Circle" could happen only in his own country and not be immoral.

You see one must first have a sense of morality to be immoral, and Mrs. Carter reveals a scene in her play to bear out this statement. The audience will observe Lord Porteous, as played by John Drew, running away with Lady Kitty, played by Mrs. Carter, thirty years before the story of the play begins. He will merely glory in the fact that he was the better man, and has small sympathy for the husband from whom he takes her. To the romantic Lady Kitty it will be just a glorious adventure. Even when the years bring their toll of suffering it will not be any prick of conscience that will make her toll her son's young wife her own sordid story, but rather the hope of saving Elizabeth, played by Clara Moores, the unhappiness that she, Lady Kitty, experienced in her social ostracism. Mail orders are now being received.

AT GRAND THEATER "RICH MEN'S WIVES"

There is a popular belief that wealth or influence are necessary factors in "breaking into the movies," but the career of Claire Windsor, who appears in "Rich Men's Wives," at the Grand next week, proves the fallacy of this opinion.

Miss Windsor is one of the most beautiful and talented young women in pictures today and her services are greatly in demand in Hollywood where she came three short years ago without any previous experience, unknown and with very little money. Casting directors, however, were quick to appreciate her grace and personality and her first day at a studio won her a small part as an extra. Not long after, Allan Dwan noticed her exceptional ability and placed her under contract to play parts in his stock company.

"RADIO KING" COMING TO THE GEM THEATER

"The Radio King" a Carl Laemmle production featuring Roy Stewart with Louise Lorraine, Sidney Brarey and Al J. Smith will be an early attraction at the Gem theater.

"BUCK" JONES AT GEM WEDNESDAY

Charles "Buck" Jones, that great screen star of Western characters will be shown at the Gem theater Wednesday and Thursday in the William Fox production, "Riding With Death". The picture is under the direction of Jacques Jaccard.

"HER LORD AND MASTER" TODAY AND TOMORROW

The contrast between American customs and those of the English is clearly drawn in "Her Lord and Master," the visualization of a famous play which is being shown at the Grand theater today and tomorrow. This contrast furnishes much of the humor in the production and gives Alice Joyce a bit of character development that calls forth great skill.

Miss Joyce has the role of a pampered and spoiled daughter of a wealthy American. Her doting parents have spoiled her by giving the girl her way in everything. Realizing that this is not good for her, Indiana the daughter, resolves to marry a man who will be her master and force her to obey his will.

"DAYS OF BUFFALO BILL" CLOSES THIS WEEK

Universal's amazing chapter play, "In the Days of Buffalo Bill," closes its engagement in Newark at the Gem theater next Friday and Saturday. The picture features Art Acord and many exciting and thrilling situations are seen in it. It is also great for its historical value.

ZIEGFELD FOLLIES STAR COMING TO THE REX

Diana Allen, Ziegfeld's Follies star will be seen at the Rex theater next Saturday and Sunday in "Man and Woman," a powerful photo-dramatic despiction of moral regeneration.

She thought that the baby had started to follow her and turned quickly to look. She missed her footing and fell the length of the stairs, her leg turning under her. The leg was broken just above the ankle and the bone badly cracked. The injury is so serious that it is said that Mrs. Cook will not be able to walk for four months.

NOVEL BURGLAR ALARM.
As a protection against burglary of theft, an alarm signal, described in Popular Mechanics Magazine, has been devised which is adaptable to many uses. In size, it is only a little larger than a big watch, which it resembles. It is loaded with ten blank cartridges which are fired by a fuse on the inside of the device. In case of danger it is only necessary to release a safety catch on the face of the device and drop or throw the signal, keeping hold of the finger ring, from which the alarm is released when flung.

Cork, iron and glass have been experimented with for making roads to stand heavy traffic.

PLAN SPECIAL SERVICE FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Rev. W. H. Boden, evangelist at the West Side church of Christ spoke last evening on "A Little Man Who Found Jesus." "Zacchaeus had a good name—meaning just—but failed to live up to it." Mr. Boden said, "although he had his eyes opened before it was too late. Men need to realize they are sinners in the sight of God. Jesus wants a place in every room of our soul's life. When we are ready to clean up our past Jesus will say to us 'today is salvation come, come to your house.'"

The special service will continue this week and next. Rev. Mr. Boden will speak tonight on "Striving Lawfully." Friday night there will be a special service for young people, the subject "Paying the Fiddler."

Chicago Grain Review.
Chicago, Jan. 30.—Buying based more or less on war like aspects of European developments, led to a little higher prices in the wheat market today during the early dealings. On the upturns, however, rather free selling took place. Bears put stress chiefly on what were referred as the tremendous stocks of Canadian wheat in bond interests in court. The opening, which ranged from 1-8c off to a like advance with May $1.16 1-8 to $1.16 1-4 and July $1.11 3-8 was followed by a general advance interrupted by a slight temporary set back.

Continued drought in Argentina gave strength to corn market and to oats as well. After opening 14 to 5-8c higher, May 72 1-2c to May 72 3-4c, corn held firm at around initial top figures.

Oats started a shade to 1-8@1-4c up, May 43 7-8@44c and later scored slight further gains.

Higher quotations on hogs gave a lift to the provision market.

Wall Street
New York, Jan. 30.—Fluctuations at the close of today's market were trifling with a continuance of the recent demand for low priced railroads especially St. Paul preferred, Southern Railway, Missouri Pacific, and Pere Marquette. Specialties were in the main better, but some profit taking showed in the public utility group, particularly for Adams Express, Consolidated Gas, new stock and Columbia Gas and Electric.

Secondary operations showed a resumption of yesterday's bear selling of particular issues, Pan American, Studebaker, and Baldwin sagging to a point or more with General Asphalt, American Hide and Leather preferred, Crucible Steel Goodrich and General Electric recording large fractions. Meantime, absorption of railroad shares was on an increased scale particularly Chesapeake and Ohio which advanced to a new high figure for the year at 76 3-4. Chicago and Northwestern, Illinois Central and Pittsburgh and West Virginia all were in demand at substantially higher figures.

Steel and Tube preferred mounted 3 5-8 to 103 1-2, which compares with yesterdays low figure of 94 to which the stock dropped after ending Saturday at 104 1-4. California Petroleum, American Tobacco, Reynolds B, Continental Can and Pacific Gas and Electric were advanced 1 to 1 1-2 points. Foreign exchange rates were higher all around with Sterling up 1 1-2 cents.

Efforts to bring about further liquidation of industrial shares by bear attacks against special issues were frustrated by the steady absorption of the investment rails. Declines of a point or so had been registered by a number of popular industrials, but these were recovered to a large extent before mid-day when the demand for the carriers became more general. Omaha preferred was pushed up 3 1-4 points, Chicago and Northwestern 2 1-2, Illinois Central 1 3-4 and Atlantic Coast Line one. Substantial gains also was made by a number of specialties, Liggett and Myers rising 7 1-2 points. Remington Typewriter first preferred three and California Petroleum, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Packard Motor preferred and Mathieson Alkali two each. Atlantic Gulf was supplied freely and dropped three points. Call money opened at 4 1-2 per cent.

QUEER CARGOES.
The oddest cargo recorded was probably that carried lately by a British steamer bound for Morocco.

It consisted of some two million gallons of water. To carry that amount of water a distance of 15,000 miles sounds too absurd, but the matter becomes clearer when we are told that the water was specially purified drinking water for the use of the Spanish troops fighting the rebels in Morocco.

Another cargo sent to Spain consisted of an immense quantity of bank notes. There were several millions of these, most of them of small value. It is testimonial to British printing that Spain gave such an order, and is due to the fact that notes printed in Spain have been so largely counterfeited.

A master stevedore, working at the Albert docks, London, recently received compensation for being hit on the head by a bundle of old horseshoes which were being loaded into a steamer's hold.

In court the judge asked the reason for sending old horseshoes out of the country. Counsel told him that they were being sent to China, where they were made into spades, a purpose for which they were specially suitable.

MAX WAS CAUTIOUS
After refusing the slightest assistance to the writer of a book just issued entitled "Max Beerbohm in Perspective," Max continues in the course of his letter: "I remember several books about men who, not yet dead, had blandly aided and abetted the author; and I remember what awful asses those men seemed to me thereby to have made of themselves. Two of them were rather great men. They could afford to make awful asses of themselves. I, who am 100 miles away from being great, cannot afford such luxuries. My gifts are small. I've used them very well and discreetly, never straining them, and the result is that I've made a charming little reputation. But that reputation is a frail plant. Don't over-attend to it, Gardener Lynch! Don't drench and deluge it! The contents of a quite small watering can will be quite enough." And then comes this cautionary advice: "Be judicial... Don't, in dithyrambs, master the reaction to underrate me—so that those who don't care for my words shall not be incensed and those who do shall rally round me."—Boston Transcript.

TO NEWARK COAL USERS

Our policy always has been and always will be to handle nothing but the very best coal obtainable, such as W. Va., Hocking, Jackson and Southern Perry, at a very low margin, depending on a very large volume of business for our profit.

We positively will not handle inferior grades, such as Muskingum, Northern Perry, Pittsburg 8, Coshocton, Cambridge and Pomeroy in order to cater to your very natural desire to cut your fuel bills.

During the season of 1921 and 1922 we sold 10,000 tons of the very best coal at prices ranging from $5.00 to $6.00 per ton, when there were no truck men to make us honest.

This season good coal has been high and scarce, what we have sold has been the very best we could get and our margin has been no more than last season.

This season has been a peculiar one; Tom, Dick and Harry are selling coal, thinking they can reap a harvest by offering you lower prices, furnishing inferior stuff, and taking the business away from dealers who have reputations to maintain.

Trucks have lined the National Pike hauling stuff from small country mines in Muskingum County that is of very low grade and practically unscreened.

An established, unimpaired credit, giving preference with the best operators, has been necessary to obtain the best grades. New dealers and some of the old ones have been handicapped for this reason. We have paid cash and got preference.

We have no time for controversies with persons whose guilty consciences our advertisements hit: if the shoe fits them they must wear it; if not why do they squawk? It is you we wish to reach and tell you of our earnest desire to deal squarely with you, help you to protect yourselves and hold your confidence, regardless of those who have no reputation to lose.

GRANVILLE

(Special to the Advocate)

Granville, Jan. 30.—The condition of Catherine Williams, 10 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, who was burned Monday morning at her home in Sunrise street, is said by her physicians Dr. Hosick of Granville and Dr. Barker of Newark to be most critical. She is in the Newark Sanitarium where she can have expert attention.

One of the finest concerts ever heard in Granville, artistically considered, was that given Monday evening in the Baptist church by the Letz String quartet, and the musical contingent present evidenced enthusiastic enjoyment in the number of recalls. While recognizing each of the tumultuous tributes of appreciation the players gave no encores until the very close of their regular program, when they played with exquisite interpretation the "Humoresque" of Dvorak. The encore prevailed even over the undue eagerness of the school children to depart.

The Kings Daughters gave a dinner last evening to the freshmen of Shepardson college at which covers were laid for 80. Following this the regular meeting was held, with Miss Gertrude Carpenter in charge of the devotional service and Miss Lilly Jones of the business. Hostesses were: Mrs. Carrie Thurston, Mrs. N. H. Overturf, Miss Gertrude Carpenter, Miss Florence Barrett and Mrs Anna Barrett. The county Kings Daughters rummage sale held in Newark netted $47, which will go to the state home in Bucyrus.

About 120 members of the Denison faculty and their wives, resident trustees and their wives dined in Shepardson commons last evening, having been invited to meet Dr. E. C. Sage of the general education board of the Northern Baptists. President Chamberlain announced, however, that owning to illness Dr. Sage had been forced to leave and was on a train for New York. He also will be forced to abandon the entire trip. The guests assembled after dinner in Stone Hall where they engaged in a game of charades led by Dr. Willis A. Chamberlin and Burton Case.

Mrs. W. D. Kinney announces that an important meeting of the Service Star Legion will be held tonight in the American Legion rooms over Lamson's hardware store at 7 o'clock.

The Granville Co-operative company satisfied with the year's work and able to pay its 6 per cent dividend with a balance to its credit, held the annual election Saturday with the following result: President, Mayor John S. Graham; vice president, Frank Zimmer; secretary, Wilkin Jones; treasurer, Frank Rees; directors; C. J. Pence, Will Stark, Elihu Hayes, B. S. Everett and Jess Blackstone.

At the Shepardson college swimming meet held in Doane gymnasium Friday night the participants were: Misses Minerva Olney, Waltham, Mass.; Marguerite Tribolet, Chicago; Helen Yeakel, Chicago; Harriet Ranson, Moline, Ill.; Marian Shorney, Oak Park, Ill.; Jane McCann, Dayton; Helen Griffith-Williams, Oak Park, Ill.; and Lucy Wyatt, Chicago. First honors were awarded Miss Tribolet, second Miss Yeakel, third Miss Wyatt. The judges were Mrs. J. Horace Nunemaker, the Misses Ruth and Eleanor Smith of Ohio State university, known as the Smith twins. A feature of the evening's events was the exhibition of fancy swimming given by the visitors.

"British Celebrities, their Homes and Haunts," continues to hold the interest of the Travelers' club which featured Robert Louis Stevenson in the meeting of Monday afternoon. "Through the Highlands with Stevenson" was the topic of a descriptive paper by Miss Daisie Howe; "Robert Louis Stevenson" was presented by Miss Elizabeth Ewart.

The round table talk in "Modern Discipline" as led by Mrs. William Howe brought out free discussion and a comparison of "old-time" with the up-to-date manners of the young. Mrs. George H. Reece related that the late Marvin Munson a one-time mayor of Granville, one had brought to the village a fine coasting sled which he presented to a certain small lad who on his opinion "had the best manners of any boy in Granville." Sir James Barrie will be given next week by Mrs. William E. Clemons.

Mrs. Anna Smith of North Pearl street is leading the membership campaign for the Parent-Teacher association. The Baptist Bulletin states that "the cost is your cordial interest and a twenty-five cent piece."

President C. W. Chamberlain will leave tonight for Chicago to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the Northern Baptist convention.

Dr. C. L. Williams professor emeritus of English in Denison university, went to Columbus today where this evening he will attend the banquet of the Kit-Kat club of which he is an honorary member.

Mrs. Anna Campbell will present interesting "Snapshots" at the meeting of the Women's Missionary Organization in the Baptist church Friday afternoon and Mrs. Waters will talk about "My Work with Women and Girls in South China."

The Baptist Bible school contributed last Sunday $152 for Baptist European relief, and the Sunday previous $125 to the Near East relief.

Thursday afternoon at 2:30 in the Presbyterian church parlors, the January group of the Ladies' Aid society will give a tea, under direction of Mrs. J. W. Rohrer a program will be presented, consisting of a charade in four acts.

The Women's Music club will present the third of a series of Grieg programs Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 in the Community rooms.

On the second Tuesday in February the Travelers' club will be in charge of the monthly meeting of the community federation and will be represented by Mrs. George H. Reece formerly head of the art department in Shepardson college, who will give a talk on Old English and other China illustrated by specimens of the ceramic art assembled in a loan exhibit.

The March meeting of the federation will be in the hands of the Three M's and L club, who have secured Mrs. John Gill lately returned from Africa to speak. It is planned for the April meeting, for Mrs. George H. Reece to present her deferred program on "Better Homes and Beautiful Gardens," assisted by two young women of the community.

Sunday dinner guests at the Con[...] club in March Hall, included Mrs. F. [...]dorfer, Sharon, Pa. Mrs. Howard [...], Youngstown, Miss Madeline Huber of New York, Miss Ruth Brown of Shepardson college and Prof. R. E. Veith.

WHY APPLES COST SO MUCH.

Probably this is the reason why apples are so high in this city: Mo[...] Sutrap of Washburn, shipped a [...] of choice apples to Minneapo[...] with the intention of disposing of the crop if he made a reasonable profit," says the Louisiana Journal. "He received a letter stating the apples were satisfactory and he would receive 75 cents a bushel. Transportation was 72 cents and postage 2 cents, so he made a profit of 1 cent."

PUBLIC TO GET CHANCE TO SEE SCOUT MINSTREL

The minstrel show which will be presented by the Boy Scouts on Wednesday evening, February 14 as part of their anniversary week activities promises to be a real event. Messrs Brown and Davis of the Interstate Producing company, who are directing the production have found a great deal of talent among the boys, and the 30 boys who are participating are practicing hard and faithfully to present to the scouting field and to the public a minstrel show which will be a credit to the scout movement.

Realizing that the minstrel show can be made a great asset for helping the Boy Scout movement Brown and Davis are giving untiring efforts and a large amount of time as a contribution to the good of boyhood. It has been definitely decided by the committee in charge that a block of several hundred seats that will be offered to the public at 25 cents. This money will go for defraying the expenses for music and costumes, etc. These tickets can be reserved at Scout headquarters, 22 1-2 South Third street, the sale starting on Monday, February 9.

Pain In the Hip Dangerous To Health

Health turns the Clock Backward

Tuesday Health Talk No. 14.
By Ben E. Creighton, D. C.

Pain in the hip is frequently the forerunner of other troubles. Sciatica, or neuritis of the leg, or tuberculosis of the hip, will frequently give warning of what is to come by pain in the hip. Usually at the first coming of such pain if the fact is appreciated that it is pressure on nerves that is causing the trouble, there is no further development.

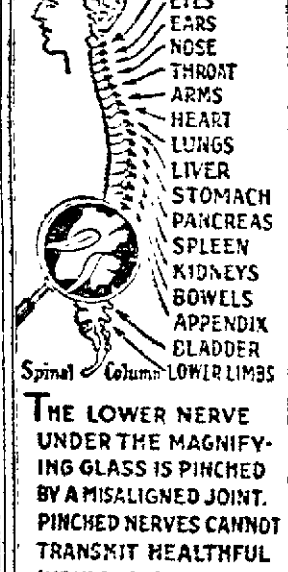

But neglect of hip pain, which is a warning from Nature that something is wrong, can lead to serious results. The trouble being pressure on a spinal nerve at the spinal nerve opening there is no merit in liniments or internal chemicals, as neither has power to move a spinal bone. Attention of this kind may give temporary relief, but in the long run it only gives the condition a chance to become deep-seated and chronic. Many crippled for life might have escaped such misery had the condition been given proper attention in the beginning.

Chiropractic is the only health method based on the unchanging facts of the anatomy. That is why it is so sure and so certain to produce results in all cases where a spinal vertebra has been displaced and is causing an interrupted and weak flow of the life impulses that travel the nerve lines. Consult.
